Einleitung

Die vorliegende Messe in F-Dur wurde zwischen August und dem 6. Oktober 2008 geschrieben, wobei wesentliche Abschnitte der letzten drei Sätze während einer USA-Reise nach Oregon im September entstanden.

Diese Kirchenkomposition ist für den katholischen Gottesdienst gedacht. In technischer Hinsicht ist das Werk als mittelschwer einzustufen. Die Spitzentöne des Sopran sind gewöhnlich um e^2/f^2 . Kompositorisch gesehen ist die Messe ein Variationszyklus über bestimmte Terzgerüste des Kyrie, welches zudem ziemlich wortgetreu im Dona nobis pacem-Schlussabschnitt des Agnus Dei wiederkehrt. Auch die Verwendung des dritten gregorianischen Credo-Gesangs im Mittelsatz wird mit diesen Terzpassagen in Einklang gebracht. Außerdem darf auf die endgültige Verschmelzung der genannten Credo-Melodie mit den Kyrie-Terzgerüsten in den letzten 16 Takten des Agnus Dei hingewiesen werden.

Deidesheim, im Dezember 2008

Introduction

The present Mass in F-major was composed between August and October (6th), 2008. Significant parts of the last three movements were sketched during an American sojourn in Oregon in the month of September.

This church composition is intended for the Catholic church service. It may be described as moderately difficult to perform. The pitches of the soprano part normally lie around e^2/f^2 . Compositionally speaking, the mass represents a variation cycle based on certain tertial foundations of the opening Kyrie. The latter also recur in fairly literal fashion during the closing Dona nobis pacem section of the Agnus Dei. Moreover, the employment of the third Gregorian Credo chant in the middle movement is also related to these tertial passages. In closing, we may refer to the final blending of the just-named Credo chant with the tertial Kyrie motives during the final sixteen measures of the Agnus Dei.
